NOT MUCH PROGRESS.

First Day's Session of the Populist Convention.

GALLERIES AN EMPTY WASTE.

Compromise on the Endorsement of Bryan Probable—Populist Candidate For Vice President May Be Nominated—Scenes in the Convention—Debs a Possible Nominee—Senator Butler's Speech.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—The Populist and silver conventions were launched yesterday but neither made much headway. The program of the silver convention was all arranged in advance. It included simply the adoption of a 16 to 1 platform and the nomination of Bryan and Sewall, but those in charge of it deemed it a good policy to go slowly in the belief that they might, by remaining in session, be able to exercise an influence in shaping things in the Populist convention. To this end they appointed a committee of seven, headed by Judge Scott of California, to meet with a similar committee from the Populists for purpose of reaching a common plan of action.

The idea was, perhaps, well conceived, although it is doubtful whether their course will be fruitful of results. The anti-Bryan Populists believe that all outside influences which are being brought to bear upon them to induce them to accept the nominees of the Democratic convention, are part of the same plot to drive their party into the "Democratic trap" and destroy and annihilate its identity. They are deaf to suggestions, appeals and warnings. The future has no terrors for the "in-the-middle-of-the-road" men, is the reply to every argument, their answer to every foreboding. They have convinced themselves that if they go marching on in four years more the two old parties will be shattered, disrupted and discredited and they will come "into their own."

The first session of the Populist convention was a disappointment to those who anticipated relentless, bitter war from the drop of the gavel. And it was a disappointment to those who imagined that the galleries would swarm with people, drawn thither by curiosity or sympathy with the deliberations of the convention. There was no wildcat fighting and the galleries, which will hold 12,000 people, were practically an empty waste. Not over 600 spectators were in the balconies. The floor, where the delegates were gathered, was, in some respects, crowded with as unique an assemblage as was ever massed under one roof.

A single glance showed that they represented the common people—a term in which they glory—that they came from the farm, the mine, the workshop and the factory. They discarded conventionalities. Fully half of them sat in their shirt sleeves with their coats slung over the backs of the chairs. Among them were many picturesque personalities—men who have been known as agitators and reformers for many years were there, but there were also many whose ability and force of character have given them rank in high station. As a body, they were men of strong and earnest convictions.

Governor Llewelling, Senator Peffer and Jerry Simpson of Kansas, Governor Holcomb of Nebraska, Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota, "Cyclone" Davis of Texas, Colonel Peak of Georgia, General Coxe and Carl Browne of Ohio, late of the industrial army; Tom Patterson of Colorado, ex-Governor Buchanan of Tennessee, General Weaver of Iowa and General Field of Virginia, who were the Populist candidates in 1892; Colonel Burkett of Mississippi, "Buffalo" Jones of Oklahoma, Captain Reuben Kolb, Congressman Howard and Colonel Bowman of Alabama, and many others were prominent and conspicuous figures on the floor. On the platform were Chairman Taubeneck, Senator Butler of North Carolina, Senator Allen of Nebraska, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lease of Kansas, and other distinguished guests.

The appearance of several women delegates on the floor was a novel feature in a national political gathering. The press boxes, usually occupied by the representatives of the big dailies, was largely given over to the editors of the weekly reform papers. The decorations of the Republican convention, which was held in the same hall five weeks ago, still graced the balconies and hid the wooden rafters and pillars which upheld the high roof. All the Republican portraits had, however, been removed. Only the bust of General Grant remained. Just before the convention was called to order, portraits of Abraham Lincoln and Peter Cooper were hung out over the platform gallery. The day session, which lasted about one hour and a half, developed nothing except possibly that the noisy "middle-of-the-road" contingent were afraid to push their claims.

Last night after Senator Butler had been chosen temporary chairman by the national committee and they had ascertained that he favored Bryan's nomination, they at once decided to depose him, as Senator Hill was deposed by the Chicago convention. At the conclusion of an enthusiastic meeting they determined to put forward as their candidate O. D. Jones of Missouri, an old Greenbacker who had written several works on finance. After a night's meditation, however, their leaders decided that it would not be the part of wisdom to make the fight against Butler and their refusal to submit to a test of strength was hailed by the Bryan men as conclusive evidence that they realized they were in the minority.

But they were somewhat compensated for the loss of the temporary chairmanship in the speech of Ignatius Donnelly who replied to Governor Stone's address of welcome. He made a "middle-of-the-road" speech that stirred the radicals to their depths. He appealed to them to stand firm, so that all the "dynamite in God's laboratory" could not tear the party asunder and predicted that if the People's party failed the cause of humanity would go down with it. The speech of the dark-browed Senator Butler of North Carolina as temporary chairman was listened to with eager interest.

He is a striking looking man with a wealth of wavy dark brown hair which tumbles over his straight forehead and which, together with a beard that marks the lower part of his face, brings into bold relief the straight aquiline nose and gives to his dark olive complexion an appearance almost of pallor. Senator Butler hopes to be the pivot on which the convention will turn. He believes eventually all the factions can be harmonized on his plan to adopt a Populist platform and nominate upon it Bryan with a southern Populist for vice president. His speech strongly upheld the demand for the perpetuation of the Populist organization, which he described as having driven the Republicans to gold and the Democrats to silver.

To be swallowed up by the Democrats, he said, was a danger only equalled by the danger of being made the direct allies of the Republicans in the present campaign. He gave both factions a chance to rend the air with shouts, but when he suggested a middle course, the purport of which all understood, both sides were irresponsive. The Bryan men on the whole, however, considered that the victory so far as there was one, lay between them. There were no demonstrations at the day's session. The delegates, save those from Texas, were unusually quiet, although after they had been once aroused by the display of Lincoln's picture, they applauded with enthusiasm everything which suited their fancy.

There was no night session owing to an accident which destroyed the electric light connections. A severe storm had passed over the city about 6 o'clock and the wires were blown down. Despite this fact the delegates assembled in the hall and waited for over an hour in total darkness for the lights to be turned on. About a dozen candles were brought in for use of the newspaper men. One was placed on the chairman's table and another stuck in the top of the guide in the middle of the pit. The effect was weirdly picturesque. Ghastly faces fluted in and out of the ring of feeble light which the tallow dips cast. The band played and the crowds sang. Speeches were made in the dark and the delegates appeared ready to stay all night if there was any prospect of light later on. There was naturally considerable apprehension that a panic might seize the crowd and a dire calamity result in the rush for entrance.

The "middle-of-the-road" people became possessed of the idea that the Bryan men had put up a job on them and the hall was not lighted because they feared that the straight-outs would run away with the convention. They denounced it all as a trick and vowed vengeance long and deep. The incident recalled a similar one at the Cincinnati Republican convention of 1876, when the lights were shut off at a critical stage just as Blaine's nomination seemed assured.

At 8:45 Chairman Butler declared the convention adjourned until this morning. Within half an hour after the last delegate had left the hall, all the electric lights were turned on, much to the astonishment of the newspaper men and policemen who lingered in the building. Quite a number of delegates had stopped on neighboring street corners to discuss the all-absorbing questions, and it was suggested that they return, but they did not, as it was pointed out that the doors were guarded and admission would be denied, besides the officers having gone, nothing that might be done would receive their sanction, and therefore be ineffectual.

The situation at present points more strongly to Bryan's endorsement or nomination. In fact the Bryan managers declare that they are absolutely certain that so far as the head of the ticket is concerned they are out of the woods. But with regard to Sewall they admit privately that there is grave doubt and that there is now probably a majority of the convention against the Bath ship builder. They are using all their energies to prevent the complications that would follow an endorsement of Bryan and the nomination of a Populist for vice president. The "middle-of-the-road" men can not even get together on a candidate for president. Debs is their favorite, but the Bryan managers say they have word that he will decline the further use of his name. If a Populist is not named for vice president there is sure to be a bolt of some of the southern delegates.

But the Bryan managers, it is said, would welcome such a bolt if it came with victory for the whole Chicago ticket. They claim that they will undoubtedly control the committee on permanent organization and resolutions which are to be announced today as they have a majority of the state and territorial delegations. It is their purpose, if they control, to frame a platform along the lines of the Chicago platform with as few concessions to the radicals as possible. For permanent chairman there is a good deal of talk of both Senator Allen and General Weaver, but the former desires to remain on the floor, and General Weaver has been selected to nominate the silver knight of the west.

It seems probable, therefore, that another will be selected, perhaps ex-Governor Llewelling, or ex-Congressman Davis of Kansas. The middle-of-the-road contingent desire Ignatius Donnelly. After the additional committees are announced and the report of the committee on credentials is disposed of Mrs. Lease will regale the convention with her oratory. A recess will then be taken until night, when the permanent chairman will be installed and the fight on the platform begun. The nomination of candidates can not be made, therefore, until Friday at the earliest.

Women Talk For Bryan.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—There was a demonstration for Bryan at his headquarters last night, which evoked a great deal of enthusiasm. For the most part the speakers were women delegates to the convention from Kansas, Nebraska, Massachusetts, Montana and Colorado. They declared themselves true Populists, but said the situation demanded the nomination of Bryan. They spoke standing on a table and were loudly cheered.

"Bring on some more women," shouted an enthusiast, "one woman is worth 16 men."

It was also suggested that the hard-headed "middle-of-the-road" Texans might be converted by the eloquence of the women delegates.

WORTHLESS

Is Life to Cretans Under the Turk's Oppression—Autonomy Demanded.

NEW YORK, July 23.—A dispatch to The Herald from Athens says: Three members of the revolutionary committee have arrived here from Crete on a special mission. In the course of an interview they made the following statement on authority of their committee: "We wish to say it has been decided that we must have granted to us the demands we have sent to the sultan or else we shall fight. The powers must either give us autonomy or see us crushed. Should our demands be neglected, then, within 15 days of July 15, the date at which they were made, we shall break the armistice."

These demands, they added, had been formulated by the committee, but, at the earnest entreaties of the foreign consuls, were conveyed through the assembly, so as not to hurt the "amour propre" of the sultan.

In the course of an interview which a Herald correspondent has just had in Crete with the governor general, the latter said: "God knows if order will be restored. I am doing my utmost in the hope only of bringing about the cessation of hostilities."

The Herald correspondent also saw Hassan Pasha. He said: "Crete is a paradise, but it has the curse of St. Paul over it. I have no hopes."

Detailed news is impossible to get. The blood of the Cretans is at the boiling point.

The assembly, at the last moment, has decided to sit.

TWELVE THOUSAND OUT.

General Strike Ordered Among New York and Brooklyn Tailors.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Twelve thousand coat tailors were ordered on a strike yesterday to enforce higher prices from the wholesale manufacturers and to stop a renewal of the task and piece-work system. The large wholesale manufacturers were taken by surprise, as it had been given out that a strike had been deemed inadvisable by the leaders. A committee of 15 of the Brotherhood of Tailors, in accordance with early instructions, stole a march on the manufacturers by visiting all the contractors' shops, 630 in number, in this city, and 250 in Brooklyn and Brownsville, and notifying the workers to quit forthwith and report to their headquarters.

Up to noon there were 4,000 tailors out in this city and 4,000 more of the total of 8,000 were expected to quit work before the close of the work-day. The 4,000 tailors in Brooklyn and Brownsville were expected to join in the strike, as they had decided several days ago.

Records Burned.

ANDERSON, Ind., July 23.—William Carmony is the justice of the peace and postmaster of Ovid, and has a general store in connection with his offices. Between 11 and 12 o'clock last night the store was entered and robbed of $40 worth of stamps and merchandise, and the building then fired. The court dockets were burned. The police here have been notified and bloodhounds called for. Ovid is in the notorious Scatterfield neighborhood.

Tried to Kill Himself.

RICHMOND, Ky., July 23.—E. H. Ballard, a Paint Lick farmer, was tried here for lunacy and was taken to the Lexington asylum. He made five attempts to end his life. He belongs to one of the largest families in the county.

Three More Cunarders.

LONDON, July 23.—The Cunard company has ordered the construction of three 5,000 tons steamers. The vessels will be built at Belfast and will be adapted for freight and passenger traffic.

Ex-Senator Jones Dead.

DUBUQUE, O., July 23.—General George W. Jones, the oldest surviving ex-United States senator, died last night, aged 92. He represented as a delegate to congress that territory now included in Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and the west except the Pacific coast.

ON A PANIC SCALE

Prices of Stocks Have Steadily Melted Away.

POLITICAL AND OTHER CAUSES.

To Head Off Another Bond Issue New York Banking Houses Come to the Rescue of the Government and Agree to Temporarily Protect the Gold Reserve. Stocks Go Up, London Buying Freely.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The strain upon the resources and temper of the financial community for some time, owing to the steady shrinkage of the prices of the stock exchange securities, has recently been intensified by political and other causes. In consequence, values have steadily melted away on a panic scale, though without visible excitement or open disaster. The market has appeared to be entirely supported and its only mainstay during the past few weeks has been spasmodic buying of our securities at times on a large scale for foreign account.

The fact that the commercial balance of trade is in our favor and that but for the result of the prevailing gloomy sentiment, the movement of gold should be toward, instead of against the United States, aggravates the situation. The dominant depressing influence have been the steady exports of the metal and the consequent rapid process of depletion of the government's gold reserve. On July 11, the free gold held amounted to $100,293,688. By July 18 the gold reserve had fallen to $96,703,621, and at the close of business Tuesday it stood at $89,780,180. These figures were further reduced yesterday by withdrawals of gold amounting to $2,375,000, including $2,000,000 for export today, bringing the total down to $87,405,180. The decrease in the 11 days amounted to nearly $13,000,000.

The continued strength of the foreign exchange market clearly indicated a steady outflow of gold and the transfer of credits from this country to Europe. The judgment of the best financial authorities is that the government could market a further issue of either 4 1/2 or 5 per cent bonds at par, but the policy of such action is admitted to be bad in view of the probable political effect. The sharp declines in securities recently, had created a sentiment of profound discouragement in Wall street, and the gravity of the situation was keenly appreciated in high financial and banking circles. President Frederick P. Tappan of the Gallatin National bank, who is the chairman of the clearing house committee of the New York associated banks, began missionary work a few days ago among his brother bankers with a view to securing pledges to protect the rapidly dwindling treasury gold reserve by placing at the disposal of the government a substantial part of their holdings of gold in exchange for legal tender notes and succeeded in obtaining offers aggregating about $13,000,000.

Conditional offers of about $5,000,000 have been received from other New York and Boston and Philadelphia banks. The successive reports of the progress that was being made helped to rally the stock market to a partial extent, although, in the opinion of many financiers, the remedy was not likely to be of more than temporary effect. The street had previously witnessed the disappearance of enormous sums of gold, owing to almost exactly similar conditions to those now prevailing, but admitted that the interval before the crop moving season would furnish supplies of exchange sufficient to turn the gold current might be bridged over successfully in the manner indicated. Yesterday, however, a complete change in the financial temper took place, when it became known that J. P. Morgan had called a conference of the great foreign banking houses with a view to concerted action to prevent exports of gold within the next 60 days.

The meeting was attended by representatives of all the leading international banking houses, including Lazard Freres, L. von Hoffmann & Company, Brown Brothers & Company, Kuhn, Loeb & Company, August Belmont & Company, Ladenburg, Thalmann & Company, Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Company, Hallgarten & Company and Speyer & Company. There were also present President John A. McCall of the New York Life Insurance company, W. H. Crossman of W. H. Crossman & Brother, Mr. Pliny Fisk of Harvey Fisk's Sons, the representative government bond house and other financiers. Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan presided. The conference lasted about an hour and after adjournment it was announced that an agreement had been outlined and a committee appointed to elaborate the details of a plan for the protection of the treasury gold reserve.

The committee consists of J. Pierpont Morgan, chairman; John Crosby Brown of Brown Brothers & Company, A. Lutzten of August Belmont & Company, Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, W. Salomon of Speyer & Company, H. Ickelheimer of Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Company, and E. Mayer of Lazard, Freres. No details of the proposed plan were obtainable, but the popular impression in the street is that a pool sale of 60-day bills will be formed. This is mere conjecture, however. At all events the practically joint action of the New York banks and of the gold exporting houses is regarded as of the first importance and is expected to cause a decided change for the better in the situation.

By Sept. 1 grain and cotton bills will be in the market to a sufficient extent to exert an important favorable influence upon the exchange market. In the last hour of business it became known that the banks in pursuance of their agreement were turning substantial amounts of gold into the subtreasury. The effect of the news and of the agreement reached between the gold shipping houses was to impart decided buoyancy to the stock market and prices closed at the top figures of the day. Some of the more important extreme advances were in Lake Shore, 4; Chicago Gas, 33-8; Burlington, 31-4; Sugar, 31-8; Leather preferred and Manhattan, 23-4; Rock Island, 25-8; St. Paul and Tobacco, 21-4; Consolidated Gas, 21-2, and New York Central, 21-8 per cent.

The larger contributors were the City National bank, $2,000,000; Hanover National, $1,500,000; National Park, $1,000,000; Bank of New York, $500,000; Mechanical National, $400,000, and Gallatin, $400,000.

MURDERESS ROBBINS

Quite Unconcerned Over the Appalling Shantytown Crime.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 23.—The condition of Delilah Call, who was so badly used up on Sunday night by the Robbins woman on a shantytown above this city, is still precarious. The bodies of her father and sister, who were murdered in the assault, were interred in Spring Hill cemetery on Tuesday morning. Hundreds of people continue to flock to the morgue to see the ghastly and disfigured bodies until they were removed by Undertaker Johnson to the cemetery.

The trial of the Robbins woman is being deferred awaiting the final results of the wounds of her other victim, Delilah Call. Crowds of visitors have been going to the jail to see the noted murderess, who seems quite unconcerned over the case, conversing freely with callers with reference to the terrible tragedy as though it was only an ordinary occurrence of her life. She will most certainly be held to the next criminal court, and with only her own testimony upon which to found a plea of self-defense the indications are that she will be given a close call for the gallows. The younger Call girl, who received a blow from the ax on the arm, is getting along very well.

FOUNDERS' DAY AT CLEVELAND.

Features of the Centennial Celebration. The Events of the Day.

CLEVELAND, July 23.—Yesterday was founders' day, and the banner day of the Cleveland centennial celebration. It was ushered in with booming cannon, clanging bells and shrieking whistles. The city was founded 100 years ago by General Moses Cleaveland. All the business houses were closed and the day devoted to the commemoration of the event.

The exercises of the day were held in the Central armory, beginning at 9:30 a. m., where a vast audience was assembled. After music by the Cleveland Vocal society, Mayor Robert E. McKisson delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the Cleveland centennial commission. United States Senator Hawley of Connecticut gave an historical address which was full of interest to the people of the western reserve.

Following the reading of a centennial ode, composed by Colonel John J. Platt, a number of distinguished guests were introduced and made brief addresses. Among them were Governor O. Vincent Coffin of Connecticut, Governor Asa Bushnell of Ohio, ex-Governor McKinley and others.

Great Loss to Lumbermen.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 23.—The heavy rains up the Little Kanawha opened the boom at Creston yesterday morning and 20,000 logs and ties passed out. The Steer creek boom, the largest in the river, belonging to the Parkersburg Mill company, gave way and all the logs passed out. The steamer Hilton was struck by a heavy raft, wrecking her wheel. The new ferryboat, Nina Paden, was also badly damaged. A barge lying beside the docks in the mouth of Little Kanawha was sunk. Great loss to local lumbermen. D. M. Miller's loss alone is estimated at not less than $10,000.

Snake For a Bedfellow.

IRVINE, Ky., July 23.—Joseph Neale, a farmer residing at Sweet Lick, Estill county, was bitten on the arm by a snake early last week and now lies in a precarious condition. He went to his room and crawled in bed, but had not been asleep along until he felt a stinging sensation, which awakened him. He sprang out of bed and lighted a lamp and upon examination found a monster snake coiled therein. The reptile was killed.

Banks Not High Enough.

KANSAS CITY, July 23.—Southern Kansas and southern and western Missouri have within the last 36 hours experienced the heaviest rains for years and considerable damage will result. At Coffeyville, Kan., all streams are out of their banks and everything in the lowlands is flooded. The Verdigris river at that point is rising rapidly and it is feared that great damage will be done to crops.

Cigarette Law Unconstitutional.

ST. PAUL, July 23.—In the United States court yesterday the Iowa anti-cigarette law was declared unconstitutional, the grounds given for the decision being the same as in the liquor original package law.

For Governor.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 23.—Hon. George Wesley Atkinson of Ohio county was nominated for governor by the Republican state convention here yesterday afternoon by acclamation.

A Prominent Kentucky Distiller, Who Was a Gold Man, Now Declares For Silver.

[Cincinnati Enquirer, July 23.]

Mr. James A. Wathan, of the large distilling and wholesale liquor firm of J. B. Wathan & Co., of Louisville, was at the St. Nicholas last night. He is one of the bright and active young business men of Kentucky. To the Enquirer man he said:

"I was converted to free silver to-day by Mr. Kriegler, of the wealthy and well-known firm of Mullins & Kriegler. We discussed the question calmly for three hours, and his arguments were irrefutable. I said that I had been wrong. A lifetime Democrat, I had made up my mind to vote and work for McKinley, but I have changed completely and will work and vote for Bryan. Mr. Kriegler has heretofore been a gold Democrat, but is now earnestly for Bryan. His partner, Mr. Mullins, has always been a Republican, but now he is for free silver and Bryan. They are men of fine sense and have much influence. I know of a number of Republicans in Louisville who will vote for free silver. Colonel John Whalen, our big political leader, says he knows of a large number of Republicans who will vote that way."

"Is it true, as the gold men claim, that Louisville will give 10,000 majority for McKinley?"

"No; if they get 2,000 they will do well."

The annual report of the Lewis and Mason Turnpike Company shows receipts $4,080.46, disbursements $3,595.57; balance on hand $484.89. Of the receipts $3,126.22 was from tolls.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

What the Weather Bureau Says of the Outlook in Its Weekly Report.

[For the Week Ending July 20th.]

Slightly unfavorable conditions have continued during the week. There is quite a general complaint of too much cloudiness and rain. The temperature was above the normal upon only the first two days of the week, and the average for the entire week shows a departure of about five degrees less than the normal. The rainfall was distributed very unevenly throughout the State, though, as a rule, the central counties close to the Tennessee border report the greatest amount, which ranged from 41 inches at Paducah to 3.35 inches at Williamsburg. The average amount of sunshine received did not exceed 36 per cent. Damaging influences are reported quite generally throughout the State, but as yet they do not appear to have affected the average condition of crops materially. It is feared, however, that much injury will result to wheat and oats in the shock, from the tremendous rains which are falling at the time of the close of reports for the past week. These rains appear to be heaviest in the counties bordering upon or adjacent to the Ohio River. Warm weather, with abundant sunshine, are conditions most needed now for the best interests of all crops.

Western Kentucky.—The general weather conditions of this section of the State were more favorable than those which prevail in the more easternly counties and fewer complaints are made of damaging influences. Generally speaking, the rainfall was about the usual amount. Wheat had, for the most part, been threshed, though some few reports of damage from sprouting have been made. The yield is far below the average and much of it is too inferior in quality. Corn continues to improve, especially the upland fields. That portion of the crop which was planted in the bottom lands, is slowly recovering from the effects of the floods of several weeks ago. Complaint is made in Muhlenberg and adjacent counties that cinch bugs are doing considerable damage, but the general outlook for the crop is promising. The condition of tobacco is variously reported as being from fair to good and reports from a few places state that it is frenching. A large portion was topped during the week.

Oats are being cut and the yield is generally very good, though the crop is badly tangled in many fields. Hay cutting approached completion during the week and the results are not quite satisfactory. Late potatoes promise a good yield. A fine crop of peaches and blackberries.

Central Kentucky.—Injurious influences are reported from all parts of this section of the State. Several severe storms occurred during the week and resulted in much local damage to crops. In many instances heavy rains completely drowned out those in creek and river bottoms and washed the soil off the hillsides very badly. Too much rain is the almost unanimous report of correspondents.

Unthrashed wheat, of which there is still considerable in the fields has suffered severely from sprouting, and some cases the shocks are almost hidden by weeds and grasses. Oats are being harvested and have so far suffered but slight damage. The outlook is for a fine crop. Corn, where not washed out or blown down looks well, though the fields are weedy in many instances, and the cleaning of them has been retarded by frequent rains. Tobacco is making very rapid growth and its condition is now fully two weeks in advance of the average season. A few complaints of frenching are made. Hemp continues to improve. Meadows are being cut and as a rule are yielding fair crops, especially of timothy. Pastures are generally in good condition. Gardens, though very weedy, are yielding well.

Eastern Kentucky.—Practically the same weather conditions prevailed in this as in the central portions of the State. Cloudy, with heavy local rains and high winds, were the characteristic features. Wheat was damaged to some extent from sprouting. The crop is reported to be very inferior. Corn is in generally fine condition, except where blown down or washed out. Hay was cut during such days as the weather permitted and a light yield of good quality is reported. Oats are quite seriously damaged by being blown down and lodged in the fields. Otherwise the crop is fine.

The condition of tobacco is reported by the great majority of correspondents to be exceptionally fine and far in advance of the usual season. Late potatoes will probably yield a good crop. Gardens are very good. All fruits, except apples, promise well.

Sleep

Induced by the use of coca, opiate or narcotic compounds is bad, decidedly bad. They undermine health and shatter the constitution and the patient is steadily growing into a worse condition—often resulting in the terrible slavery and misery of the cocaine and opium habit. Sleep induced by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla does not perhaps come as quickly, but it comes more surely and more permanently through nature's great restoring and rejuvenating channel—purified, vitalized and enlivened blood. This feeds the nerves with life-giving energy and builds up the system and constitution from the very foundation of all health and life—the blood—pure, rich, red blood.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

Interesting Article by a Maysville Teacher Who Attended the Recent Annual Convention.

The National convention of teachers at Buffalo on the lake has just closed and back to their homes have gone those teachers who had the pleasure of attending. They came from Florida and Connecticut, from South Dakota and Georgia,—in short from all sections.

Buffalo is a city noted for pleasant summering, broad streets, fine architecture of its public buildings and the surrounding places of interest. Elliott Square, one of the largest buildings, was just suited for the general headquarters. Music Hall, the place of general meetings, was draped with the flags and all about was a profusion of palms. This assembly room could not hold one-third of the crowd and after the second day overflow meetings were held in Concert Hall and other places. It was interesting to note how throngs followed the favorite speakers. Wherever Dr. Harris, U. S. Commissioner of Education, or Dr. Butler or Stanley Hall appeared, there was sure to be a big crowd. W. C. Trent of the University of the South, Brander Mathews and Bishop Vincent were among the leading speakers.

Ross Turner, the famous watercolorist of Boston, gave a scholarly address on "Art in the School Room through Decoration and Works of Art."

In the afternoon of each day, in different assemblages various subjects were discussed, art education, music education, kindergarten, manual training and modern foreign languages. It was not possible to attend all, so one must choose where he was most interested.

The subject "Art in the Schools," proved one of the most popular departments of the N. E. A. of 1896. This department has had an immense growth in the last decade. In the earliest years of this gathering art work in the schools was regarded of little account; this year some of the leading workers in the convention represented art as taught in the schools. Langdon Thompson, of Jersey City, said, "Drawing is the language of industry." John S. Clarke, one of the authors of the system of drawing in use in our public schools, was a speaker of the day.

Though Buffalo has been famous as a convention city, the one just closed was the largest and most notable. It was such a crowd as the city has never before seen. Eagerness sat on all the features. There were worn, wrinkled faces, marked in deep seams by the touch of time; beside them were young fresh ones, full of life and hope. With it all there was some of the grotesque—those of odd appearance and strange manner, the sign-boards on the road to brains. Count it numerically 20,000 brains were there. There were the men from the cyclone belt with long Peffer-like whiskers fluttering in the wind; the men from the back woods district with sunburnt faces; the school ma'ams from the plains that had taught in dugouts or ranch houses, and the old fashioned school ma'ams from New England. Then there were the little school ma'ams from the surrounding country who had counted the cost before they came to the city and who knew to a penny the expense "of going to the convention." Most of the States labeled their teachers with badges galore and the variety was infinite. South Dakota sent a large delegation, placarded unmistakably in an orange satin breastwork of mammoth dimensions. The Kansas ribbon was yellow with dark brown letters, colored, no doubt from the sunflower. South Carolina's was plaited palmetto leaves. From somewhere came a delegation with a unique specimen: it was a little flag with a silver bell, a school bell, of course.

The people of Buffalo left nothing undone that could make for the comfort of the stranger. It was open-handed, open-hearted hospitality, and an air of cultured refinement was everywhere. If there are any ill-natured people in Buffalo they must have been boxed up by the officials for the occasion.

So has ended the pleasant and profitable N. E. A. convention of 1896. Next year the association meets in Minneapolis.

Nowadays when women are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are overdone. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or a lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman too it might be different; but the woman who knows when she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops. Working in this way has manifold evils. The most common trouble resulting from overexertion, either mentally or physically, is constipation of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most effectual remedy in the market. They work upon the system easily, naturally. There is no unpleasant nausea after taking them. No griping—no pain—no discomfort. They are composed of materials that go through the system gradually, collecting all impurities and, like the good little servants that they are, disposing of them effectually.

MAYSVILLE 2, SPIDERS 1.

Another Fine Game of Ball at the Local Park—The Teams Play Again This Afternoon.

The crowd at the local park yesterday afternoon "got their money's worth." The Maysvilles had for their opponents the Spiders of the Enquirer League of Cincinnati, and the game was one of the closest and most hotly contested played here this season. The locals won, but didn't have any tallies to spare, the score standing 2-1.

Newton was in the box for Maysville, and pitched a remarkably good game. He let his opponents down with three hits, striking out nine men and allowing but one man to walk to first. Two of the three hits were made in the first inning, and these singles, with an error at short and an error at first, gave the visitors their only run. They had the bases full in this inning, but Curle caught one runner at the plate, and some more good work by the locals kept the score down to one.

Bolly pitched for the visitors, and the support he received enabled him to hold the locals down to six hits. The boys hit the ball hard enough and often enough, but it generally went up into the air; only a few hit safely. Not until the fourth did they score. Then Leever opened with a single. Sutherland went out on a pop-up fly to third. Lautenbach followed with a single. Kellner walked on four bad ones, filling the bases. Curle's hit to second forced Kellner, Leever scoring. Lautenbach and Curle were both left, Rogers retiring the side, Bolly to first.

The winning run was scored in the eighth. Cox was hit by pitched ball. Leever hit down to pitcher, but Bolly's throw to second failed to catch Cox. Sutherland dropped one down in front of the plate, and Cox was caught at third by Bolly. Kellner then hit a nice single to center, Leever scoring. Curle's high fly to right was taken, retiring the side. Tanner got a nice single in the ninth, stole second and then reached third on a balk by Bolly, but was left. Newton bunted safely in the seventh, but was left.

Batteries: Newton and Kellner; Bolly and Npper. Hits, Maysville 6, Spiders 3. Errors: Maysville 3, Spiders 5. Struck out, by Newton 9, Bolly 2. Bases on balls, by Newton 1, by Bolly 1. Bases on hit by pitcher, Tanner, Cox. Stolen bases, Tanner 2, Curle, Tentenborn. Left on bases, Maysville 8, Spiders 2. Umpire, Will Davis.

Captain Tanner is playing a fine game at second.

Newton is fielding his position now like a veteran.

The teams play again this afternoon. Game called at 3 o'clock.

Rogers took Wadsworth's place in center field, and Leever looked after right.

The fine game yesterday ought to prove a big drawing card this afternoon. Go out, as this will likely close the games here this week.

Cox put up a fine game in left field. Woodruff's hit in the ninth looked like a safe one, but Ben got it by a hard run, ending the game.

Tuesday was a great day for white-washing. Maysville put a coat on the Lexingtons, Cincinnati put it on the New Yorks, Baltimore and Pittsburg gave each other a coat in a double header, and Cleveland rubbed it in twice on the Senators. The game by the Maysvilles and Lexingtons was the finest in the lot.

HER STEPFATHER WHIPPED HER

And She Left Home and Hadn't Been Heard of at Last Accounts.

Miss Nettie Ailshire, aged about sixteen, left home about 8 o'clock last Sunday night, and at last accounts no trace of her had been discovered, although diligent search has been made.

The young lady has been living with her stepfather, W. I. Vaughn, at or near Springdale.

Nettie, like most young ladies of her age, had a beau, but her stepfather didn't like the fellow and had given her orders not to go with the young man any more. She did not obey. The two were out walking Sunday afternoon, and when she returned it is said her stepfather whipped her.

That evening just after dark she left the house, and her relatives up to yesterday had not succeeded in finding any trace of her.
